

AN ATYPICAL HALLOWEEN NIGHT

October 31.

8:30 P.M

The Frenchmen street has always been the place to be on the Halloween night, although this year is kind of different due to the fact that we're on the midst of a worldwide pandemic and therefore, we aren't able to gather more than 10 people together in the same place. That's why this halloween, my best friends and I have decided to investigate and see what's in the outskirts of the city.

11:15 P.M

We've been walking for hours without any specific destination and without realising it, we found ourselves in the middle of the woods, having fun and remembering some halloween nights of years ago. Suddenly, we saw how two red coloured eyes appeared from the bushes, we were freaking out!. We couldn't believe what our eyes were beholding, in less than a blink of an eye, an unrecognizable figure appeared running towards us. Our first reaction to this was to scream until someone could hear us, but being so far from the town made that no one notice.

Our only option was to run into the woods. Fortunately, we found an abandoned hut where we could take refuge. We entered and subsequently, find a place to hide so that whatever was chasing us couldn't find us. Nevertheless, all this happened a few minutes before we realised that this small cottage wasn't unoccupied, as when we turned on the flashlight, we saw hundreds of skulls hanging from the ceiling and a frightening frame of a creepy old woman...
